

ABSTRACT

100 This invention relates to a golf tee having a ground penetration stopping means disposed on its shaft. The purpose of the ground penetration stopping means is stopping the ground penetration of the golf tee at a predetermined depth, thus permitting consistent placement of a golf ball above the ground on the golf tee corresponding to the specifications of a specific driver.